I’m Thankful For: Venmo

by Molly MacNeil

Because who carries their check book around these days?

I am thankful for Venmo, a smart phone app that has made my life more convenient and efficient. Venmo allows you to instantly send money to anyone through a secure network with money you have in Venmo or a linked bank account. Venmo gives you the ability to cash out overnight and receive the money in your bank account in one business day, much faster than other money transfers.

When my friends and I go to dinner with a large group, we know longer have to go through the hassle of splitting the bill. One person will pay the bill, and then everyone else will “Venmo” their money - lots of time saved! When it comes to splitting utility bills, Venmo allows you to easily track your payments to confirm you have paid all of your monthly bills. What a lifesaver for roommates everywhere!

I prefer plastic to carrying cash and checks, so I’m thankful for Venmo for making it easier for me to pay friends and get paid back!

Originally published on November 25th, 2014

What's your view? Add your question or comment
About the Author

Molly MacNeil
molly.macneil@kalypso.com
Molly is a consultant at Kalypso focusing on product lifecycle management (PLM), new product development and innovation strategy.