#PDPMchat Transcript - July 18, 2012

Top Tips for Effective Gate Meetings

by Pamela Soin and Kasey Durbin

On July 18, 2012 Kalypso and sponsor, Planview, hosted another exciting #PDPMchat which connects users and experts interested in chatting about portfolio management in 140 characters or less. The July #PDPMchat focused on the ins and outs of effective phase-gate meetings.

Top professionals with deep expertise into product and portfolio management gathered on Twitter to add their expertise to the conversation including: Pamela Soin, senior manager and portfolio & pipeline management practice lead, along with various P&PM practitioners.

Need Some Top Tips for Effective Gate Meetings?

Check out the #PDPMchat transcript below and see what the experts had to say about the effective phase-gate meetings. We've even included links to the resources mentioned. Tweets below are in order with the earliest tweet first and latest tweet last. Click "read next page" at the bottom of the page and read through the entire transcript.

Can't get enough of our Twitter chats? Understandable. These events happen once a month with the goal of creating a dialog and connecting practitioners around portfolio management for product development. Click here and get the details about our next #PDPMchat.

Originally published on July 18th, 2012

What's your view? Add your question or comment
About the Authors

Pamela Soin
pam.soin@kalypso.com
Pamela enjoys international travel, designer fashion, and hopes to one day hit #1 on The New York Times Bestseller list.

Kasey Durbin
kasey.durbin@kalypso.com
Kasey is a marketing manager with Kalypso and author of The Modern Brander blog.